hanging back and getting.
What we must do we may as well do willingly, — as well walk as be dragged.

Harriet Beecher Stowe

There is nothing in which people more betray their character than what they find to laugh at.

"There is so much good in the worst of us,
There is so much bad in the best of us,
That it ill becomes any of us
To talk about the rest of us"

"Talk about personal liberty.
No man has a right to do as he pleases, unless he pleases to do right?"

That cometh back no more to thee;
In vain thou weepest; in vain dost grieve, These three will never more return.

Venture not to the utmost bounds of even lawful pleasure: the limits of good and evil join

Conscience is like a sun dial.
If you let truth shine upon it, it will point you right; - but you may cover it over so that no truth can fall upon it; and then it will lead you astray if you follow its guidance

Any fool may meet with good fortune,
- but the wise man only will profit by it.

As we must account for every idle word, so we must for every idle silence

"In order to speak short upon any subject - think long."

"Don't air your grievances, you had better smother them."

It doesn't pay to cry over spilled milk, neither does it pay to spill the milk.

What's done's done; and if the let it be done, we may. We can't always make people do as we would. There's no use in being dragged through the world like a log under a cart.

Your field of blue breathes the steadfastness of a country firmly united; and your stars signify a union that is welded together by the mighty-hand of an Almighty God.

Our Country

Our Country— Whether bounded by the St. John's and the Sabine or however otherwise bounded and described, and be the measurements more or less;
still our country to be defended by all our hands.

Our country, our whole country,
and nothing but our country.
Union— No north, no south, no east, no west— but one and indivisible.

Our Native Land— May it ever continue the abode of freedom and the birthplace of heroes.

Now can we ask others to think as we do when to-morrow we may probably shall think differently ourselves.

AN ARAB SAYING

Remember, three things come not back:

The arrow sent upon its track—
It will not swerve, it will not stop
It speeds, it flies to wound or slay.
The spoken word so soon forgot
By thee; yet it has perished not;
In other hearts it is living still,
And doing work for good or ill
And the lost opportunity,

A horse power is equivalent to raising 33,120 lbs one ft. per minute, or 550 lbs one ft. per second.

Toasts for Feb 22.

To Washington and his little ax
A toast we now demand:
So let's admire who tell the truth
With a sharp ax in his hand.

To the memory of George Washington the childless father of millions

To the American Eagle
Here's to the great American Eagle Proud bird of freedom, all hail!
That nobody can inveigle
Or put salt on his beautiful tail

The United States Flag Your stripes of red throbs with the life blood of thousands, your stripes of white sigh with the woman's tears
